

Newly available Palliative Care Guidelines- the PalliApp

A new App for i-phones and blackberries is now available with the Palliative Care Adult Guidelines, published by Max Watson and the team from Princess Alice Hospice.

For those who have iPhones, downloading the PalliApp is a matter of going to the App Store on your iPhone and searching for the PalliApp. The app costs £2.99 and this will be used to defray the costs of its production.

The first time you open the PalliApp it explains how to use it. In effect this involves waiting until the app opens and then tapping the screen twice. This brings up a menu which allows you to search through the guidelines either by word or by the index.

The production team includes Ian Back, Max Watson, Caroline Lucas, Andrew Hoy, Peter Armstrong and Victoria Lidstone. They hope the app will prove useful to a wide range of clinical staff.
